

June 30, 2022

The Honorable Joe Biden and Kamala Harris
President and Vice President of the United States
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Ave NW
Washington, DC 20500

Dear President Biden and Vice President Harris:

We write to you as leaders and grassroots organizers from across the United States who support solidarity and advocacy with the Cuban people. Many of us have participated in licensed travel to Cuba with Witness for Peace Solidarity Collective (WFPSC) or a similar solidarity group. Since 1998, WFPSC has led thousands of U.S. Americans in 10-day delegations to Cuba with a mission to learn directly from Cuban people and listen to testimonies from artists, farmers, health workers, Afro-Cuban leaders, entrepreneurs, LGBTQ+ activists, and faith leaders. These delegates have seen firsthand how U.S. sanctions limit their access to basic necessities, food, transportation, housing, and medicines. The Cuban people, independent of their political views, remain firm in their “right to live without a [U.S. imposed] blockade”¹ and have urged us to share that message widely.

We applaud your Administration's recent steps towards restoring a policy of engagement and reversing some Trump administration measures, many of which were implemented during a deadly global pandemic. We welcome the steps forward outlined in the May 16th, 2022 State Department's Fact Sheet and urge swift implementation of these much needed and overdue changes. The island is currently experiencing acute shortages of food, fuel, and medicine tied to the economic impact of the COVID-19 pandemic and tightened economic sanctions.

We write to you to highlight the brutal reality that over 200 Trump-era sanctions remain in place under your leadership. We join many U.S. organizations, individuals, and decision-makers to demand that you and your administration move quickly to take executive action and make good on your campaign promise “to reverse the failed Trump policies that inflicted harm on Cubans and their families.” In March 2021, 80-House Members listened to their constituents and sent a congressional sign on letter² to your Administration outlining some critical U.S.-Cuba policy recommendations, including several we highlight and support:

1. Immediately retract the “politicized decision by the departing Trump Administration” to designate Cuba as a state sponsor of terror (SSTL) -- a move that is widely condemned across the world as baseless. As stated clearly, “Cuba was removed from the list in 2015 after an exhaustive review by experts at the State Department and in the Intelligence Community, and the Trump Administration did not cite any new facts to justify their decision.”
2. Resume the path towards normalization of diplomatic relations, including restarting high-level bilateral dialogue and renewing working groups formed during the Obama administration to cover a wide range of key shared interests such as climate change, scientific cooperation, and migration.

² 80- House Members Congressional sign on letter to President Biden, Press Release, March 2, 2021

3. End all U.S. travel restrictions to Cuba so that anyone under U.S. jurisdiction can travel to Cuba freely per their constitutional right. Roll back the Trump Administration's restrictions and permit individual travel, lift restrictions on cruise ships, private charters and vessels, and allow for general tourism to Cuba.
4. These initial steps should be part of an ongoing process that seeks to end the harmful and extra-territorial blockade against Cuba. U.S. polls have long shown that the majority of U.S. Americans support this, along with nearly all members of the U.N. General Assembly, who for 29 consecutive years have voted against the US embargo.

We respectfully ask that your Administration further consider:

5. Taking executive action on regulations that govern trade and travel to Cuba to return them to their status as of January 20th, 2017.³ Remove Cuba from the SSTL, waiving Title III of the Helms-Burton Act, annul the Cuba Prohibited Accommodations List, and remove the sanctions on Fincimex and AIS to facilitate the reinstatement of remittances to Cuba.
6. Use executive authority to halt the annual determination to impose sanctions under the Trading with the Enemy Act.
7. Immediately end the application of any sanctions that restrict food, medicine and other humanitarian assistance to Cuba, including restrictions on financial transactions and international cooperation.
8. Expedite reactivating and restaffing the U.S. Embassy in Havana to normalize the issuance of all visas and other consular services. While we applaud the recent reinstating of the Cuban Family Reunification Parole (CFRP) Program, the backlog of nearly one hundred thousand visa applications has kept families separated, stalled careers, denied the right to travel, fueled high-risk migration, and cost innumerable resources by requiring that Cubans travel to a third country.
9. Prioritize engagement on medical cooperation⁴ by adding Cuban vaccines to the list of those recognized by U.S. authorities so that Cubans can enter the United States, facilitating the approval of Cuban vaccines, removing policies that incentivize Cuban doctors leaving their medical missions, and by taking executive action to ensure that basic medical supplies and components for producing and distributing vaccines are not negatively affected by the U.S. "embargo" (also called an "economic blockade") or other sanctions.
10. Peacefully return Guantanamo Bay.

We understand that to fully normalize relations with Cuba, there must be an Act of Congress. We highlight that in December 2021, your Administration received a letter from 114 House Representatives⁵ requesting a meeting to discuss U.S.-Cuba relations and as well as a letter from the Senate⁶ outlining similar policy recommendations. Please meet and listen to your fellow colleagues in the House Chamber.

³ 36 Sustainable Agriculture, Environmental Organizations and Farmers Deliver Letter to Biden Urging for a Change in Cuba Policy, Press Release, Caribbean Agroecology Institute, May 5, 2021

⁴ [Pressley, Cohen, \[26\] Colleagues Urge President Biden to Ensure Cuba Sanctions Don't Impede Global Vaccination Efforts](#), Press Release, March 2, 2021

⁵ Lee, McGovern, Meets, Rush lead 114 Members of Congress calling for Biden Administration to support human rights & humanitarian need in Cuba, Press Release, December 16, 2021

⁶ Wyden, Leahy Lead Colleagues in Urging Biden-Harris Administration To Abandon Broken, Trump-Era Cuba Policy, Press Release, February 25, 2021

The Biden Administration can alleviate this suffering with “a stroke of the pen” in opposition to Trump-era policies that were implemented to cause harm to Cubans. Your Administration can make history.

We will continue to advocate for U.S. engagement with Cuba that respects the right of the Cuban people to live without a blockade: at the doors of your executive administration (and of subsequent administrations if yours decides to maintain with this draconian policy), to our Representatives, and within our communities in all 50 states.

Respectfully,

We, the people and organizations undersigned
